1.1 Florian Rasch II (picture)

Birth Date: November 22, 1819
Birth Place: Overdorf, Germany
Death Date: February 12, 1891
Death Place: St. Florian, Alabama
Burial Place: St. Florian, Alabama
Occupation: Farmer
Religion: R. Catholic

Notes: He lived at Kraubitz, Germany, where his occupation was listed as a gardener. Originally arrived in the U.S. in 1850, at age 30. In 1852 he returned to Germany to bring his father to the U.S. The manifest for the ship named Stephane lists Florian Rasch, age 32 and occupation as baker; Carolina Rasch, age 24, and Paul Rasch, age 9 months. The port of departure was Bremen, Germany, and the port of arrival was New York. After coming to America with his small family, he farmed the land he purchased in Michigan in 1851. With 10 of their 11 children moved from Michigan to northwest Alabama in April or May 1873. He purchased land from Fr. Hueser on which the John Wilson plantation home was located. The reason he moved his family to Alabama was that his wife was in poor health and he believed the warm climate would help her. He grieved bitterly over the death of his beloved Caroline, going to the cemetery daily and weeping at her grave. The paster arranged for him to spend some time with his son, Fr. Luke, in Wisconsin. All sources agree that St. Florian, AL, is named for Florian Rasch. The family legend is that he was a very holy man who went to daily Mass, and died in the church. Another version of the origin of the name of the town is found in the booklet about the 100th anniversary of the parish which cites the donation of the bell for the first church as the reason the town was called St. Florian in honor of its donor.

The Rinke Family

The origin of the name. From Anglo-Saxon: hring, hrine meaning ring armor, coat of mail. English ring. Forstmann derives a word ring in ancient names. And from the old High German: ringon, luctari, rang, battle. Anglo-Saxon rinc, combatant, he derives a form rang, rank, renk. But as the separation, in ancient names, even, es doubtful, and in the modern impracticable, I take them together – the sense being in either case a warlike one. Sample forms Old German: Rincho, Renco; 9th Century English: ring, Rink; German: Ranke, Ringe, Rinch (From “Teutonic Name System by Ferguson. Chapter on “Warriors and his Arms.”

Joseph Rinke, son of Frantz Joseph Rinke (1850-1923) told his children that he believed the name, way back, had been Ranke.

The Rinke Family in Europe

The nine Rinke children were all born in Heiligenstadt Prussia. The family acquired land near Rastenburg, East Prussia (now Kenzyn Mazowiechi, Poland) in the Masurian Lakes Region. The property was in the mountains and contained a lake. It must have been wild, heavily wooded land, because Christoph and his seven sons worked hard to clear the land and make it very beautiful. In fact it was so beautiful and picturesque with its sparkling blue lake surrounded by scenic mountains that a man of wealth wanted it for a resort. The Rinkes sold it to him and in that way obtained enough money to pay for passage of the whole family to America. (This was told to Hugo Rinke by his father, Frantz Joseph Rinke.)

On the Way

The Rinkes left their native land on July 22, 1861, first going to Berlin by way of Konigsberg. The seven sons and one daughter accompanied the parents. It is known that George had married Caroline Jandkowski and they brought along their baby daughter, Anna Rinke. Anna Rinke, Frantz and Rosina (Wien) Rinke might have met and married in Prussia, but to date we have no proof.

They probably left by way of Port Bremen, the most popular port of exit for that time. Shortly after leaving port the ship was battered by such a violent storm that they were forced to sail back to port for repairs. (From Helen Diekman, grand daughter of Carl Rinke 1843-1919).

When they set sail for the second time it took fourteen weeks to cross the ocean. The Theut family came over on the same ship, and in the distant future a grand daughter, Florence Theut, was to marry a Rinke grand son, Hugo Rinke Jr.

After leaving a country constantly beset by strife and wars, the Rinkes arrived in the new land of America to find themselves right in the midst of a Civil War.

At this time Christoph Rinke was fifty-two years old and his wife, Christine, was fifty-three. The sons and daughters ranged in age from Andreas, aged twenty-seven, down to Frantz Joseph, aged eleven.

They arrived in Detroit by way of the Great lakes one cold day in December. Christoph was very ill and had to be removed to the home of a doctor on Labrosse street, between 4th and 5th streets. It was war time and the only two hospitals in Detroit at that time were small and filled to overflowing with Union soldiers that had been injured in battle and transported to Detroit away from the firing line. One hospital was the tiny, original Harper hospital founded in 1859, and the other was the hospital established by the four Sisters of Charity on Randolph street at Larned back in 1845.

Meanwhile, Christine had lost the slip of paper on which was written the address of the relative or friend that was to help them get settled. No one came to meet them and Christine sat on a bench with the family belongings poled around her, not knowing what to do. At long last, a kind hearted woman – a total stranger – noticed her dilemma and came to her aid. She took the Rinke family into her home and kept them until Christoph recovered.

Meanwhile, on Sunday morning, Dec 24, 1961, the house owned by Dr Bigelow on Labrosse street caught fire. The patients, as a precautionary measure, were moved outside and laid on the cold, ice and snow covered ground. The fire which was caused by a defective stove pipe, was extinguished before doing any serious damage, but the exposure to the bitterly cold weather, caused Christoph to have pneumonia.

Christoph Rinke and his wife, Christine, came to Warren township with their family and purchased a forty acre farm on Hoover road on Feb 26, 1962. The farm passed to his son, Andrew Rinke, on Nov 19, 1967. Later Andrew added sixty more acres to the farm.

Andrew Rinke married Magdeline Warner and they raised a family of nine children:

John Joseph Rinke born Oct 12 Mile, 1868, married Elizabeth Gill. He operated a hardware store at the corner of Van dyke and Engleman which his sons later modernized and enlarged to include a Buick salesroom and appliance store.

AnnaMary Rinke born Feb 6, 1867, married John Wiegand.

Andrew Frank Rinke (Known as Frank) born Aug 15, 1870, married Julia Rivard, daughter of Frank Rivard and Mary Gallin, Feb 20, 1900.

Marie Elizabeth Rinke born Nov 17, 1873

Barthelmew Rinke born Aug 26, 1875

Barthelmew Andrew Rinke born Jan 26, 1878, married Rose Theisen.

Rose Rinke married John Smith

Katherine Rinke married Casper Smith, brother of John

Barbara Rinke married John Theisen

John A Rinke married Edith Baumgartner

Helena Rinke married John Metter, son of Joseph and Christina Metter.

All of this family were born in Warren township and attended St Clement Church in Center Line

Joseph 3 Rinke (Andrew 2 Christoph 1) born Oct 12 Mile, 1868, married Elizabeth Gill. They lived on a farm on Thirteen Mile Road between Hoover and Schoenherr roads until 1905 when they moved with their family to Center line next to St Clement Church.

Joseph Rinke formed a partnership with his brother-in-law Mike Smith and they opened the Smith and Rinke Implements and hardware store on the corner of Van Dyke and Engleman. They sold fertilizers, windmills, lightening rods, gas light systems, plumbing and heating supplies and hardware. They also carried a line of carriages built in Flint by Durant and Dort.

The first water system in center line was located on the Rinke property in back of the implement store. It consisted of a large wooden tank filled with water that supplied the neighborhood and st Clement Church and rectory.

Smith and Rinke put up the first gasoline pump in the area in 1910. They sold one gallon at a time.

In 1914 Smith and Rinke decided to dissolve the partnership but Joe Rinke continued on with the business.

By 1917 automobiles were becoming quite numerous so Joe Rinke decided that selling cars might be more profitable than selling gas so he obtained Buick and Oakland agencies. Business prospered. His three sons Ed, Norbert and George, helped in the business as soon as they were old enough to put a shoulder to the wheel.

In 1926 the old hardware store was torn down and replaced by a modern structure. A display room for cars was added and the hardware store became a modern appliance store operated by George Rinke.

Norbert and Ed Rinke managed the automobile business and began selling Cadillacs in 1931. During the depression of the 1930s they added Chevrolets, Oldsmobiles and Pontiacs to their line. However in 1948 general Motors adoped a new sales policy affecting dual dealerships which resulted in a split up of the business between the brothers. Ed build a salesroom a few blocks north on Van Dyke where he sold and serviced Chevrolets. (The above information was contributed by Ed Rinke, son of Joseph 3 Rinke.)

Clara Elizabeth RYAN [1880 US census, Detroit, Wayne , Michigan] [message from Clara (Bowen) Molina & Family Group Sheet]

Clara was the wife of Joseph Winfield Bowen. A Michigan marriage certificate indicates they were married on 28 August, 1880. However, the 1880 census [10 & 11 June] shows a Clarisa Bowen boardi> ng at Louis Bowen's house, and it appears she was Joseph Bowen's wife.

Clara Ryan was born in New York on 18 October, 1861, according to information on her death certificate. However, she is shown as only 5 years old in the 1870 census which would have made her birth year 1864. This agrees with her age on her son Charles' birth certificate.

Joseph & Clara were Clara Bowen Molina's grand parents. They had eight children.

Clara died on 24 March, 1926 at her home in Detroit, Michigan. She died of intestinal influenza complicated by pneumonia. Clara is buried in Evergreen Cemetery, Highland Park, Michigan.

Clara Elizabeth RYAN [1880 US census, Detroit, Wayne , Michigan] [message from Clara (Bowen) Molina & Family Group Sheet]

Clara was the wife of Joseph Winfield Bowen. A Michigan marriage certificate indicates they were married on 28 August, 1880. However, the 1880 census [10 & 11
June] shows a Clarisa Bowen boardi> ng at Louis Bowen's house, and it appears she was Joseph Bowen's wife.

Clara Ryan was born in New York on 18 October, 1861, according to information on her death certificate. However, she is shown as only 5 years old in the 1870 census which would have made her birth year 1864. This agrees with her age on her son Charles' birth certificate.

Joseph & Clara were Clara Bowen Molina's grand parents. They had eight children.

Clara died on 24 March, 1926 at her home in Detroit, Michigan. She died of intestinal influenza complicated by pneumonia. Clara is buried in Evergreen Cemetery, Highland Park, Michigan.
